Mrs. Floyd Day has the thanks of the Hustler force for some June apples. It is rather late in the season for June apples, but these were of a second growth. She has a tree in her yard which bore a large crop early in the season and is now bearing the second time. It is something unusual for a tree to bear fruit twice the same year. There were four of them, perfectly formed, and the largest was about the size of a hen egg.—Jackson Hustler.

The election law as modified by the Legislature will not be effective in the approaching November election. It will be held under the present law with some slight changes, pertaining to the form and location of the device, &c.

Child training begins and child character is formed earlier than most persons suppose. Out of this erroneous notion comes the lamentable failures of so much of our home training of children. Many a child is not counted by his parents old enough to be fairly under training until his habits and character are practically already influenced for all time.

It is safe to conclude that the permanent trend of a child's character is likely to be given by the time he is seven years old; his training must begin at birth if he is not to be the looser because of this neglect. The old-fashioned doctrine of implicit obedience, which came to many of us early in life, was helpful to us because it was never delayed as it is now until the child can "reason."—Ex.

According to the Census Bureau, there are 159 cities in the United States that have a population of over 25,000. Combined these cities have a population of 19,694,625, as compared with 14,855,489, in 1890 and 9,933,927 in 1880. Of these 159 cities, 19 had 200,000 and over, 19 had 100,000 and under 200,000, 40 had 50,000 and under 100,000 and 81 had 25,000 and under 50,000. In 1880 there were but 20 cities which contained more than 100,000 inhabitants, but in 1890 this number had increased to 28, and in 1900 to 38. In 1900 there are 78 cities of 50,000 inhabitants or more as compared with 58 in 1900 and 25 in 1880. The combined population in 1900 of the 19 cities of the first class is 11,795,809, as against a population in 1890 of 8,879,105, representing an increase during the 10 years of 2,916,704, or 32.8 per cent. The same cities showed an increase from 1880 to 1890 of 2,567,452, or 40.6 percent. This is the only group that shows a larger actual numerical increase in the last decade than in the preceding one. In all the groups, the percentage of increase is less for the latter period.

The population of the United States for 1900 is 76,295,220, an increase of 13,225,464 over the population for 1890 which was 63,069,756. The percentage of gain is nearly 21 per cent. The population of Kentucky is 2,147,174. The figures for 1890 were 1,858,637.

John Morris, of Bourbon county, raised this year 2,500 bushels of Irish potatoes on ten acres of land and was selling them at 45¢ delivered. He sold the seconds at 25¢ per bushel at home. The third grade were boiled and fed to his hogs.

Coffee Intoxication.

A visitor recently returned from Brazil says that the whole country is perpetually intoxicated by coffee. It is brought to the bedside the moment one awakes and just before he drops asleep, at meals and between meals, on going out and coming in. Men, women and children drink it with the same liberality and it is fed to babies in arms. The effect is apparent in trembling hands, twitching eyelids, yellow, dry skin and a chronic excitability worse than that produced by whisky.

In commemoration of the fact that France was our ally in securing independence the citizens of that nation joined with the citizens of the United States in placing in New York harbor an heroin statue representing liberty enlightening the world. What course shall our nation pursue? Send the statue of liberty back to France and borrow from England a statue of William the Conqueror? Or shall our nation so act as to enable the American people to join with the Filipinos in placing in the harbor of Manila a statue of liberty enlightening the orient?

A genius has come forward, says an exchange, with a solution of the trust problem, his suggestion being the enactment of laws providing that the purchaser of goods from trusts shall not be obliged to pay for them unless he chooses to do so. This might exterminate the trusts, but it would convert the great majority of the people into enthusiastic advocates of trusts.

A Wonderful Offer to Women.

We have received word of a most remarkable offer which is to be made to women by The Delineator, of New York.

Taking the fact that next year begins a new century, The Delineator offers to distribute $17,500 among 1901 women. The plan is so cleverly arranged that a woman living in a small town or village, has just as good a chance to win one of these 1901 prizes as a woman living in a city—because the prizes are given for the number of subscriptions secured in a town in proportion to the population of that town; instead of being given simply to those who send the largest list of subscribers—which, of course, are most easily obtained in big cities. Another clever feature of the plan is, that all the cities and towns of the United States and Canada have been arranged in seven classes. The cities of the greatest population are grouped in Class 1, and as these cities are not very many, the prizes offered are twenty-eight; the highest prize being $500, and the lowest $5.00. The total amount of prizes given away in this class is $1,000. The remaining smaller towns and villages fall into six other classes, and as the number of towns in a class increases, because, of course, there are more small towns than large ones, the amount of prizes given away to a class increases, so that in Class 7, there will be $4,000 distributed among 601 winners.

Furthermore, to everyone who fails to win one of the 1901 prizes there will be paid an extra commission on subscriptions, provided they equal one out of every two hundred inhabitants of the town from which the contestants sends them.

This is altogether a very liberal offer, and one which the famous old Delineator is well able to make good. From our point of view, we do not see why such an offer needs to be made by the Publishers of The Delineator, for we believe it already has nearly half a million subscribers. Its strong hold upon the affections of American women has come in the past generation, from its practical advice about dress details and home matters.

There is a county in Kansas where there are no physicians, and drug store keepers do not make a living. For more than a year there has not been a sick man in the entire county that has not been cared for and restored to health by "herbs" and other household remedies.

In speaking of the National Fox Hunt which meets at Estill Springs this month The Tattler of the Louisville Times says:

"The National Association of Fox Hunters is going to meet at Estill Springs next month some more. Why? They never kill any foxes and half the time they never find one. Kentucky is a foxy old State, but when it comes to chasing the fox an anise seed bag would do about as much good, or a large broiled steak tied to a string. Up in Madison county it was no unusual thing when driving along the country pikes early in the morning to see a red or gray fox slide across the road, and hunting parties were all the rage among the sport-loving fraternity. Most of these kept packs of hounds, and when the place for the meet was arranged you could see the dogs trooping into the grounds in charge of their keepers. Sometimes the chase would extend from midday to late at night, and then the party would rest at the home of some neighbor where a hastily cooked, but bountiful, supper was always served. This would be followed by games of cards, notably the mercy game of poker, after which there was a second supper at the home of the first host. Most of the horses were trained for this sport and the Maupins of the mountains were noted for their mounts. Woe to the hapless city man who was in the saddle when one of these horses heard the cry of the hounds. All that was left for him to do was to hold on like grim death while the excited and fiery animal went tearing after the dogs like the wild horse of the headless horseman.

Wouldn't it jar you to hear of an eleven-year-old girl being married?

Then wouldn't you fall in a faint to learn that a child of that age has sued for a divorce?

Yet such a case is reported by the Brandenburg Messenger in the following matter of that way:

"Mrs. Minnie Gill vs. Harsy Gill. If Mrs. Gill is successful in securing her wants, she will be the youngest "grass widow" in the State, as she is only eleven years old.

But youthful marriage is not confined to Meade county. The Owensboro Messenger's correspondent at Elizabethtown, McLean county, writes:

"Mr. Bert Phaup and Miss Minnie Barnard were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nath Bolton, Tuesday evening, at 7 o'clock by Rev. William Tate. The bride is thirteen and the groom is sixteen years old."

Over in Jessamine only a short time since a youth of thirteen was married to a maid of twelve, the parents of both being present at the ceremony. On the way home the mother of the bride started a "rough house," as it were, because she objected to the youngsters riding in the same vehicle, and the police had to be appealed to prevent a serious climax.

The morose man takes both narrow and selfish views of life and the world; he is either envious of the happiness of others, or denies its existence.

A Village Blacksmith Saved His Little Son's Life.

Mr. H. H. Black, the well known village blacksmith at Grahamsville, Sullivan Co., N. Y. says: "Our little son, five years old, has always been subject to croup, and so bad have the attack been that we have feared many times that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicines, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucus and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symptoms appear we have found that the dreaded croup is cured before it gets settled."

There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by J. W. Dawson & Bro. and Morgan McKinney.

A Great Medicine.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and find it to be a great medicine," says Mr. E. S. Phipps, of Poteau, Ark.

"It cured me of bloody flux. I cannot speak too highly of it." This remedy always wins the good opinion, if not praise, of those who use it. The quick cures which it effects even in the most severe cases make it a favorite everywhere. For sale by J. W. Dawson & Bro. and Morgan McKinney.

Some Chinese Proverbs.

WISDOM FOR WOMEN.

The gods honor her who thinks long before opening her lips.

The minds of women are of quicksilver and their hearts of wax.

A vain woman is to be feared, for she will sacrifice all for her pride.

Give heed to the voice of an old woman; sorrow has given her wisdom.

A haughty woman stumbles for she cannot see what may be in her way.

A woman without children has not yet the most precious of her jewels.

A woman desirous of being seen by men is not trustworthy; fear her glance.

Like sheep that be leaderless are many women who have come together for much talk.

Women is the ease for that which pains the father; she is balm for his troubles.

Respect always a silent woman, great is the wisdom of the woman that holdeth her tongue.

Give heed to her to whom children have come; she walks in the sacred ways and lacks not love.

Trust not the woman that thinketh more of herself than another; mercy will not dwell in her heart.

A beautiful woman knows not her charms, therefore is she beautiful, more so than the colors of the sea.

A mother not spoken well of by her children to an enemy of the state; she should not live within the kingdom's wall.

A woman who mistakes her place can never return where she first was; the path has been covered up from her eyes.

A woman that respects herself is more beautiful than a single star; more beautiful than many stars at night.

A woman that is not loved is a kite from which the string has been taken; she driveth with the wind and cometh to a long fall.

—EX.

The good will of women is not so easily obtained as that of men.

Young Women

The entry into womanhood is a critical time for a girl. Little menstrual disorders started at that time soon grow into fatal complications. That female troubles are filling graveyards proves this. Wine of Cardui establishes a painless and natural menstrual flow. When once this important function is started right, a healthy life will usually follow. Many women, young and old, owe their lives to Wine of Cardui. There is nothing like it to give women freedom from pain and to fit young women for every duty of life. $1.00 bottles at druggists.

Miss Della M. Strayer, Tully, Kan. "I have suffered untold pain at menstrual periods for a long time, was nervous, had no appetite, and lost interest in everything, in fact was miserable. I have taken four bottles of Wine of Cardui, with Thiodford's Black-Draught, when needed, and to-day I am entirely cured. I cannot express the thanks I feel for what you have done for me."

PAD, PRINTING AND FACTORY

COMMON BLESSINGS.

They Are Not Sufficiently Appreciated by Most People.

The vast majority of people are apt to depreciate their blessings and exaggerate their misfortunes. All persons in health of mind and body must admit, whenever temporary sorrow may be theirs, that their blessings have been far greater than their misfortunes. It can be demonstrated to the most obdurate misanthrope that the greatest need of most persons is not greater blessings, but the power to appreciate the blessings we have. The things which refine and enoble a nature, which lift the thoughts toward Heaven in a perpetual flood of gratitude are absolutely free. The love of the family, the joy in the company of sister, mother, father and brother are the greatest joys of the humblest and greatest among us. The infinite beauty of nature lies an open book for every one to read who can. The glory of shifting clouds and azure sky, the loveliness of the colors of the wild flower or of the lichen, and the song of the wild bird are absolutely free. It is only the grossness of our own natures and the hardness of our own hearts that are at fault if we fail to heed them.

God has given us these things free to refine our natures and win our hearts from selfish desires and gross worldly fear. These things that are free are full of infinite joy and infinite interest when we are able to understand them even in part. They are most valuable in lifting up the nature to the highest plane and teaching us to love those things that God loves rather than anything that wealth can buy or obtain. It is time to seek culture through other means when we have made best use of the means of culture which are spread out everywhere in the natural world.

An Elephant's Revenge.

A French gentleman living in India had a tame elephant, which was accustomed to go to the dining-room window after dinner and beg from the guests. One day the elephant came when they were at dessert. A gentleman refused to give it anything; but the elephant would not go away. The gentleman, angry at its asking, gave it a stab with his fork. The elephant went into the garden, tore a branch covered with black ants off a tree and shook them over the gentleman's head. The ants got into his ears and down his neck, and at last he undressed and took a bath to get rid of his tormentors. —Detroit Free Press.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY—NOT A MATTER OF CHANCE

$17,500 in Prizes

EVERY WOMAN HAS AN OPPORTUNITY TO WIN
A LARGE PRIZE. THERE ARE NO BLANKS.

THE DELINEATOR, the Magazine of Fashion well known for a generation, celebrates the dawn of the new century—the year 1901—by offering 1901 prizes ranging from $500 to $5,000 to 1901 women. Total of prizes, $17,500. Prizes will be awarded, not to those sending the largest number of subscriptions to THE DELINEATOR, but to those sending the largest number in proportion to the population of each town in which they are secured. The woman living in the smallest town has just as good a chance to win a large prize as the woman living in a city.

To this end all towns and cities in the United States and Canada are divided into seven classes, according to population:

CLASS ONE includes all cities of 200,000 inhabitants or over. In this class there are 28 prizes to be given away, the highest being $500, the lowest $5.00.

CLASS TWO includes all cities from 50,000 to 200,000 inhabitants. In this class there are 133 prizes to be given away, the highest being $400, the lowest $5.00.

CLASS THREE includes all cities from 30,000 to 50,000 inhabitants. In this class there are 208 prizes to be given away, the highest being $350, the lowest $5.00.

CLASS FOUR includes all cities from 10,000 to 30,000 inhabitants. In this class there are 257 prizes to be given away, the highest being $300, the lowest $5.00.

CLASS FIVE includes all towns from 5,000 to 10,000 inhabitants. In this class there are 307 prizes to be given away, the highest being $200, the lowest $5.00.

CLASS SIX includes all towns from 1,000 to 5,000 inhabitants. In this class there are 367 prizes to be given away, the highest being $150, the lowest $5.00.

CLASS SEVEN includes towns of 1,000 inhabitants and under. In this class there are 601 prizes to be given away, the highest being $100, the lowest $5.00.

AN ILLUSTRATION. A woman taking subscriptions in a city of 20,000 population would be in Class 4. She would compete with others sending subscriptions from towns of 10,000 population up to 20,000. She would have an opportunity of winning one of six prizes, which might be as high as $300 and could not be less than $5. She would win a larger prize if she sent in twenty subscriptions than would a woman who forwarded twenty from a town of 30,000, because her proportion of subscriptions to population would be larger. This being the case, some very small hats will win some very large prizes. In one of our recent prize offers, a woman in Washington, D.C., won a prize of $25 for securing only 14 subscriptions.

NO CONDITIONS. The same woman can win several prizes in every class by taking subscriptions in different towns. The contest begins with this announcement and will terminate February 15th, 1901. Providing the first order contains two or more subscriptions, they will be accepted at 90 cents each. Subscriptions can be sent afterward at the 90-cent rate until February 15th, 1901. The regular price of The Delineator is $1.00 per year. Subscriptions must begin with November or December of 1900, or January, February or March of 1901.

PROFITS FOR ALL. Every woman who fails to win one of the above prizes, but who sends subscriptions at the proportion of one to every two hundred inhabitants of a town, will be paid a special prize of ten cents on each subscription secured, in addition to the ten cents allowed above.

WHY DO WE LIMIT THIS OFFER TO WOMEN? Because The Delineator is published for women and women can best recommend it to women. It is a great favorite among them. There are now more than four hundred and eighty thousand subscribers. If you are not interested in this offer, call the attention of your friends to it.

ALL women in sending their first order of two or more subscriptions must mention that they are to apply upon the above offer; complete information regarding prizes, with order blanks will be sent. To those who are not thoroughly acquainted with the merits of THE DELINEATOR, full information will be sent upon request. Address,
